

Contacts may be another content section, but I think I'm going to avoid making it its own page. Rather, I would try putting the majority of it on the Front page/Homepage. For instance, I can have an email link for contacting me at the very bottom of the page in the footer – could be small text, since it's not the main focus of the page). The Twitter feed – which will just give updates of my overall life, whether comic or not – would be its own little scroll window, that would be located under the comic section for the most recent comic upload (which is also on the Homepage). And the email list signup would be a brief pop-up window on the bottom right corner of the screen where they can type in their email and sign up. This will keep it out of the way, and not take up too much space on the Homepage.
